

Gabriel Livermore: Inking of a exhibition

One Boston Globe

Boston's museum landscape is undergoing a dramatic shift: A new generation of leaders

Inkling of a exhibition

History of The Collection
Pen Page

This visual exhibition will be an exploration of the collection of pens, pencils and markers he curator was able to bring together for this piece.

The Curator

The dashing person you see here is the curator of this exhilarating exhibition Gabriel Livermore. He was born February 17 2006 in the small village of Rochester New York. He faced many struggles in life, being born at a very young age, he was unable to walk and talk for the first year of his life, but he was able to over come these struggles and became the man he is today. He would move to New Hampshire at one years old and would take to art. At nineteen he would put together the exhibition we gather he today for, Inkling of a exhibition. This exhibition is truly a master piece and it calls into question what other art pieces he will go on to create in his life.

Gabriel created the exhibition one night while on the phone with his mom while they talked about Adidas

Back to home page

This exhibition is made up of only the finest collection of pens and markers this side of the curators dorm room. Gabriel Livermore, the curator of this exhibition, spent nearly an entire 20 mins putting this collection together and taking these photos to produce what you see before you today. He searched through his desk, a box under his bed, a different desk until he finally was able to produce the collection you see today. The collection consists of an Expo marker, a fine point Sharpie, a NicPro 0.5 tip, a Bic Mechanical pencil, a Bamboo digital, and 4 Precise V5 pens consisting of the colors red, black, green, and blue. As it stands this collection can be viewed by the public but only if they have prier notice and acceptance, however while in person viewing is unattainable to some this digital showing will be available to all.

This image is a decorative piece made up of the pieces from the exhibit, they are arranged in a floral like pattern believed to give symbolism to the beauty of life and its fragility.

Bamboo
Digital Pen

Back to home page

Expo Dry
Erase Marker

NicPro
0.5 Tip

Sharpie
Fine Point

Mechanical
Pencil

Precise V5
Blue

Precise V5
Black

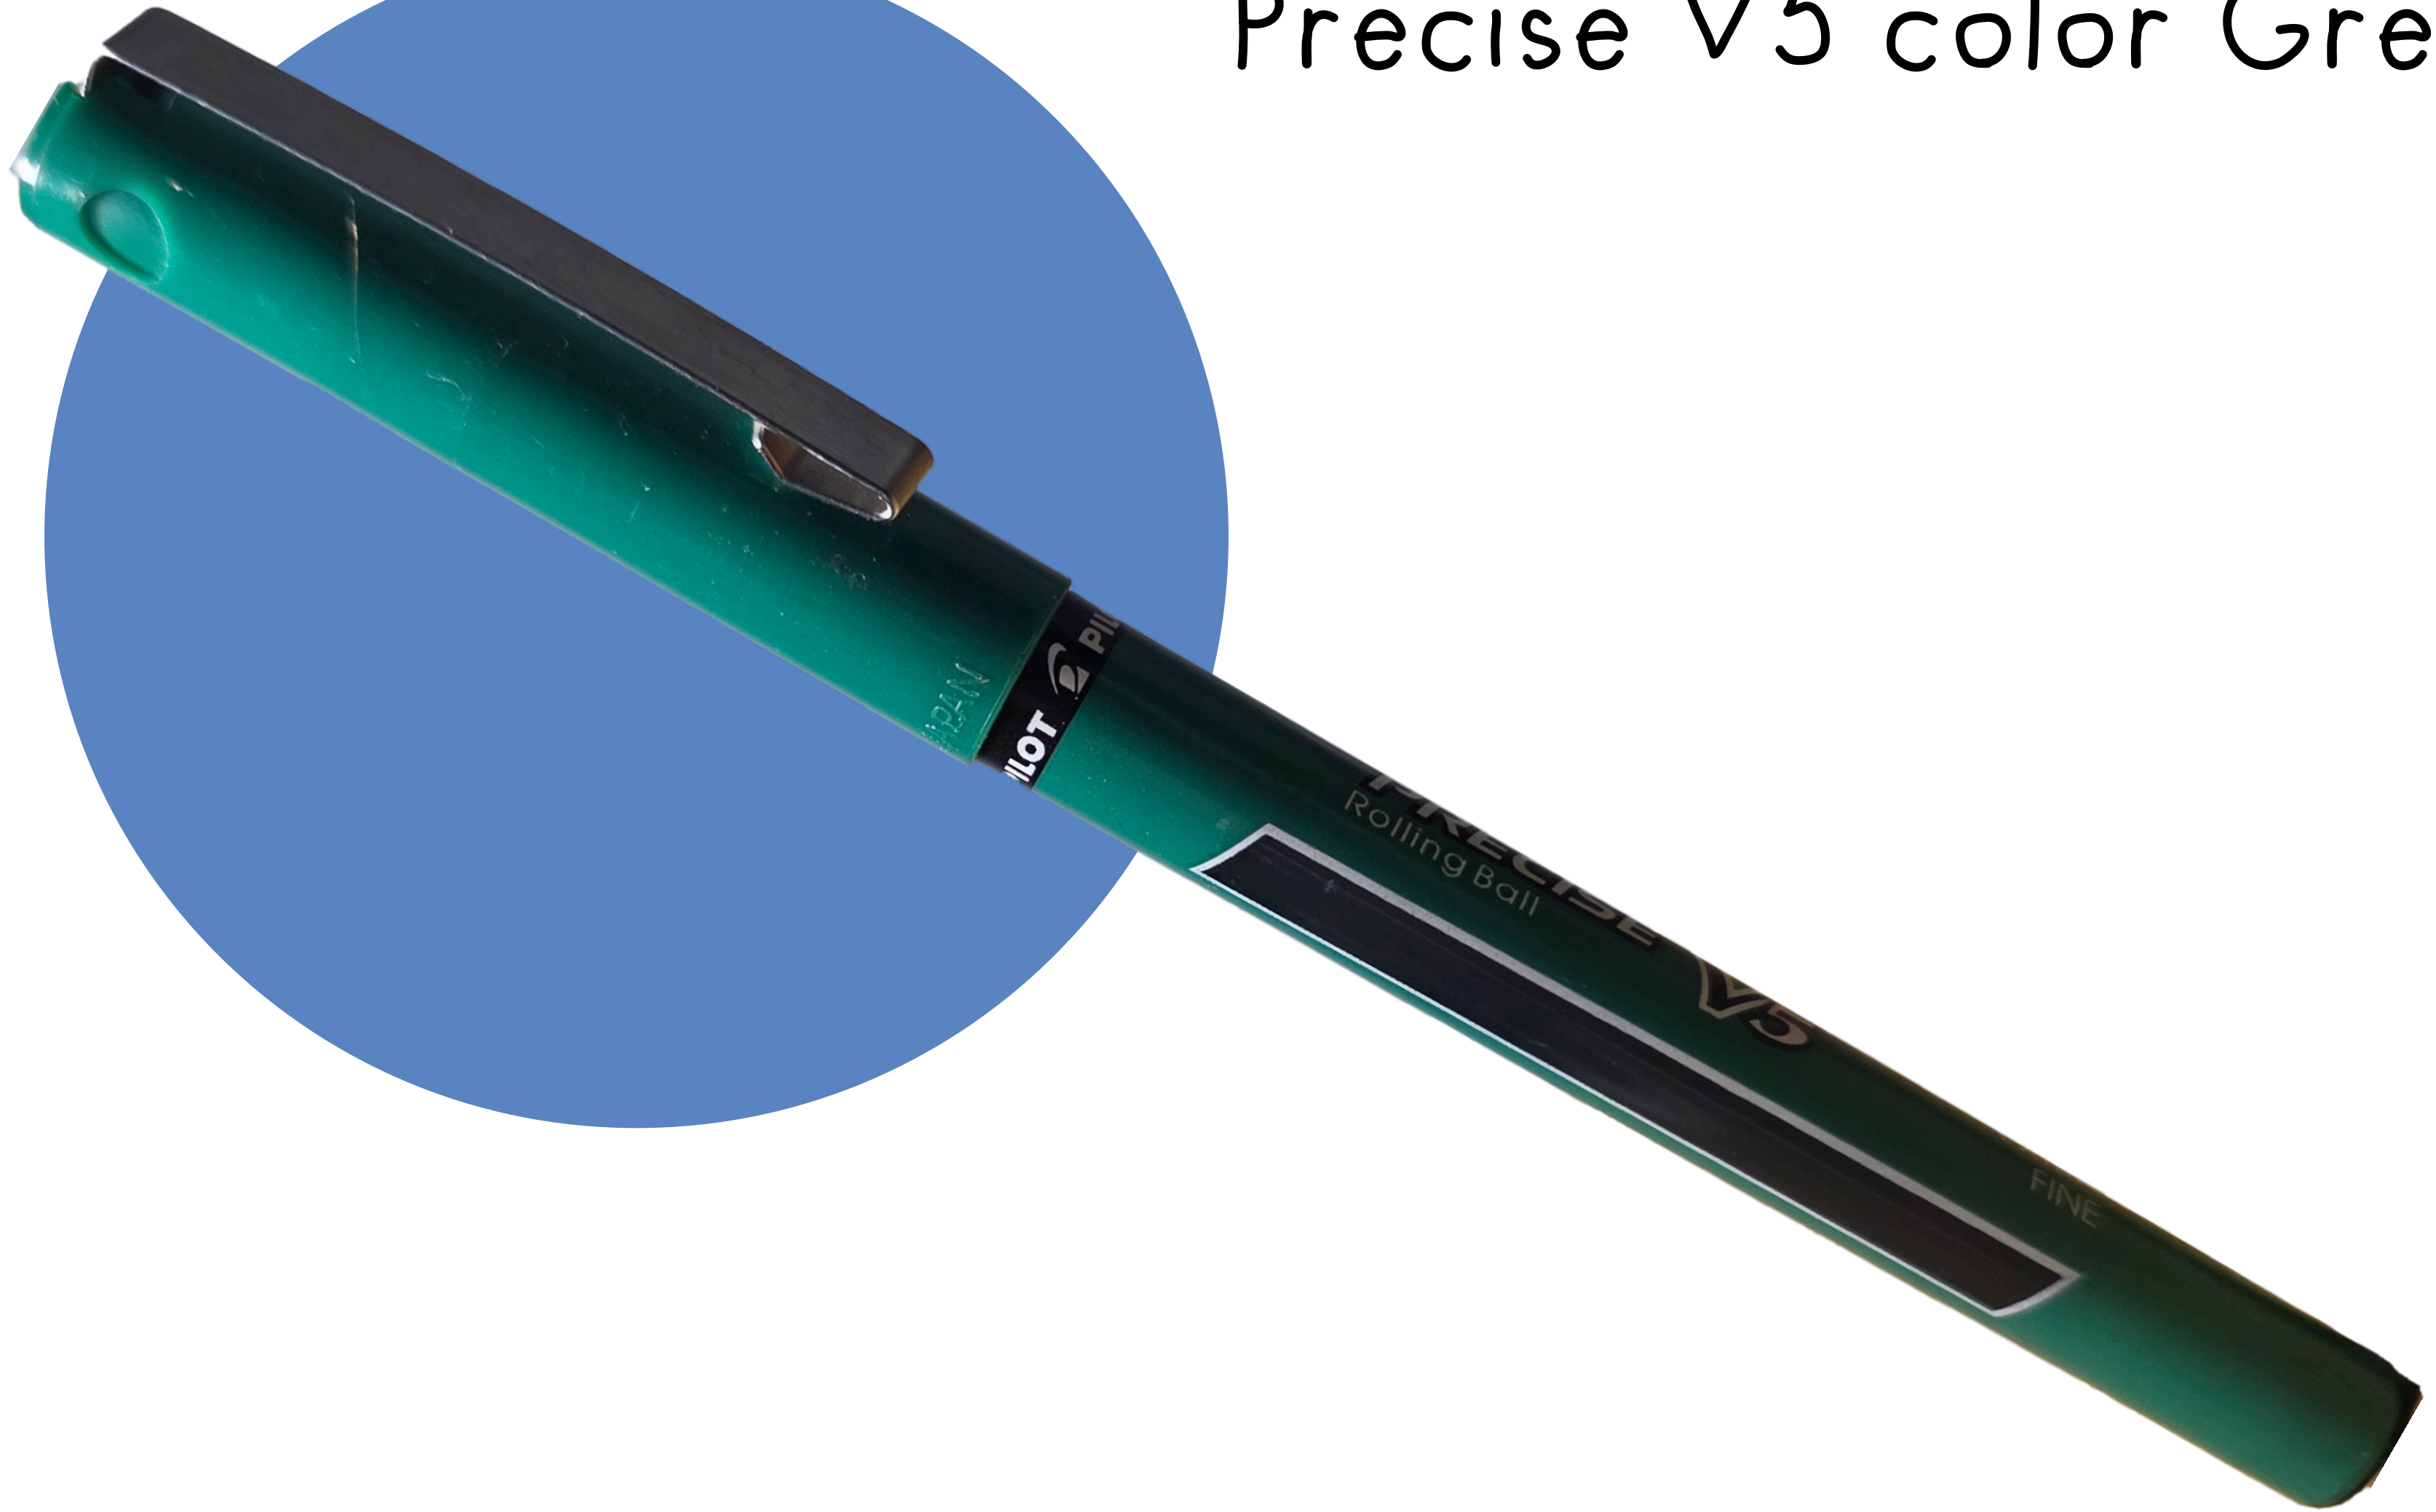

Precise V5
Green

Precise V5
Red

Precise V5 color Green

Back to gellery

Next pen

Precise V5 color Blue

Back to gellery

Next pen

Precise V5 color Black

Back to gellery

Next pen

Precise V5 color Red

Back to gellery

Next pen

Expo Dry Erase Marker

Back to gallery

Next pen

Sharpie Fine Point

Back to gellery

Next pen

Bamboo Digital Pen

Back to gellery

Next pen

Mechanical Pencil

Back to gellery

Next pen

NicPro 0.5

Back to gellery

Next pen